OVERVIEW

【Background】

Seamless Steel is an important raw material for the national economy, and economical steel varieties. It is widely used in petroleum, electric power, chemicals, coal, machinery, military, aerospace and other industries. With the rapid development of the domestic economy, the demand of seamless pipe market is increasing at the same time. In July 1996, 夏港镇老年协会 (translated as Xiagang Town  Elderly Association) and 江阴市标准件二厂 (translated as 2nd Jiangyin  Standard Unit Factory) is jointly funded the establishment of the Subject.

【Trends and Prospects】

Steel and iron industry is an important basic industry of national economy and is an important symbol of the level of national economic and overall national strength. Steel and iron industry's development directly affected its related industries like national defense industry and construction, machinery, shipbuilding, automobiles, household appliances, etc. However, the growth rate of China's domestic steel production increased slowly in 2012. Fixed investment in the steel industry maintained a slow growth but overcapacity was still more prominent contradictions. Chinese domestic economy gradually stabilized bottoms and had a positive impact on steel consumption. Part of the downstream steel industry has seen signs of improvement, particularly driven by a series of steady growth measures. Based on the recent steel market development trends, consumer demand for steel grew gradually into the recovery phase, the steel production capacity maintained modest growth.
